I Like Bein' Clean

A Drug Education & Prevention Motivational Program

Looking for a unique speaker for Red Ribbon Week? "Mrs. Kate's" power-packed program will teach your students about healthy lifestyle choices. Her positive approach motivates the kids to stay drug, alcohol and tobacco-free. Her lively puppet "Reggie the Raccoon" opens the show and motivates the kids to stay away from "garbage" that will harm their bodies. "Mrs. Kate" explains the difference between prescription and illegal drugs, and warns kids about drug-dealer tactics. Pick a Pal explains "guilt by association" and encourages kids to choose friends wisely. "Hey There, Little Conscience" motivates children to listen to the voice inside them telling them to do right. The show moves to an emotional peak as the kids sing heartily "I like bein' clean... I love self-control."

Letters of Recommendation...

"Her presentation was a fun-filled, engaging, interactive assembly, thoroughly enjoyed by all. The messages the songs convey are simplistic and realistically relevant for elementary age children concerning how to say no to drugs and yes to healthy lifestyles. For weeks afterwards I was still hearing the children singing "Hug-a-bug-a-boo" and "I Like Bein' Clean." Kate Carpenter is an outstanding performer who understands children and the importance of positive influences in the culture of our community schools."

Laura Lee Kinard, M.E.
School Counselor
Bryceville Elementary School

"We appreciated so much you sharing your positive, character-building, "hugs are better than drugs" message motivating our students to stay drug-free. We also want to thank you for being so flexible that you were able to adapt your program to accommodate each specific school's policies, and for your very organized pre and post-show materials. You made it easy to prepare for and follow-up your message!"

We enjoyed your music tremendously as did our students as you could tell by their enthusiasm and smiling faces. We could also plainly see that you sincerely care about what you are doing and that your goal is that as many students as possible be reached with the anti-drug message."
